Meetings

First meeting: Canberra, 10-14 March 1997

Second meeting: Paris, 29 September-2 October 1998

Third meeting: Washington, D.C., 8-10 November 1999

Topics considered

Measurement practices of participating countries; concepts of capital stocks and flows; practice and problems of perpetual inventory method; alternative approaches to measuring capital stock, primarily direct collection; commercial accounting issues; current price and volume measures; balance of fixed assets and capital stock estimation in transition countries; experience with multi-factor productivity; new measures of capital related to the extension of the asset boundary as recommended by the System of National Accounts, 1993 (1993 SNA); balance sheet issues; and international comparability and cooperation.

Products

Documents and final reports of the 1997, 1998 and 1999 meetings are available on the web site (see below).

The Expert Group is developing a handbook on capital stock and flow measurement that covers both conceptual issues and suggested best practices in compilation. The handbook, which will be published by OECD, will be part of the reference documentation on the 1993 SNA.

Planned activities

The second draft of the handbook has been prepared. Expert Group members have until mid-November 2000 to provide comments, after which the handbook will be finalized and submitted for publication.

Expected future products (dates)

A handbook on the measurement of capital stocks and flows is expected to be published in the first half of 2001.

The Expert Group will continue to discuss, through its electronic discussion group database, concepts and practices in the measurement of capital stocks and flows. Depending on the outcome of these electronic discussions, it may choose to have a future meeting, although to date no meeting has been scheduled.
